Catholic Education Week. concludes today with our young people leading us in our Mass. We thank them most sincerely for witnessing to their faith in this very public way. As you leave they will distribute a copy of the new national icon to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the passing of the Education Act (Scotland) in 1918. This transferred all Catholic schools owned by the church over to the governance and responsibility of local government. The icon represents "Jesus, Our Teacher." There will be a second collection today.
